MESSAGE

Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic.

Arthur C. Clarke

It is indeed a pleasure to see how the young ones at Blue Bells are keeping pace with the latest in technology. I take this opportunity to congratulate the Robotics team which has added another feather in our cap by winning the International Robotronics Competition 2015(IRC Open League) and entering the final level to be held next year.

Information technology is playing an important role in India and has transformed India's image from a slow moving bureaucratic economy to a land of innovative entrepreneurs. The pace of change brought about by new technologies has had a significant effect on the way people live and work. India is now one of the biggest IT capitals of the modern world and all the major players in the world IT sector are present in the country.

LEADER WITH A FUTURISTIC VISION

On similar lines, the need and importance of technology in education cannot be undermined in any way. Technology is changing the way teachers teach and the way students learn. It aids plenty of resources to enhance the teaching skills and learning ability.

Studies in the psychology of learning suggest that the use of audio-visuals in education has several advantages. I am happy to share that another milestone at Blue Bells has been the introduction of Smart Classes. By way of this aid we hope to enhance the learning process along with making it a more interesting experience for the children.

Wishing all students a happy e-learning journey.

Warm Regards

Anshuka Aneja
