Fostering Happiness

“Kids go where there is happiness and excitement. They stay where there is love”

Zig Ziglar

We at Blue Bells realize and understand the importance of nurturing the young blossoms in a way that they feel appreciated, valued, and cared about. The beautiful smiles all around, the happiness in the very atmosphere of the school and the satisfaction of providing an environment that aids life-long learning is what each faculty member aspires to achieve for all the children whose lives we touch.

All human beings endeavor to be happy, and the philosopher Aristotle is often cited to have said: ‘Happiness is the meaning and purpose of life, the whole aim and end of human existence’. When we talk about raising our students as 21st century global citizens who are well equipped to face all the challenges of the world, we are also talking about the Blue Bellians who have happiness embedded within their lives right from a very tender age.

The schooling experience is perhaps the most influential endeavour in terms of shaping the course of life of each and every child. Therefore, we believe that along with providing a safe, secure and technologically advanced environment for learning, it is our responsibility to integrate happiness into the curriculum, thereby ensuring better well-being, health, and achievement of the children as well as their success in future life and work.

We believe that a happy class is a productive class, and more happy classes make for a highly productive school. No matter how brilliant the curriculum might otherwise be, children need to be happy to engage and learn. And happiness to us means knowing, believing in, and loving what you’re doing. With happiness as the cornerstone of everything we do at school, our students also learn the concept of lifelong learning.

As a result of our consistent efforts, the students at school are organically engaged and thereby happy. In nurturing this engagement and happiness, we nurture learning and cultivate an environment which maximizes both development and delight among students.

We also wish to thank our parents for their constant support in all our endeavours and seek their valuable suggestions to help the school continue attaining new heights of glory with each passing academic session.
